Azithromycin is derived from Erythromycin. Zithromax is a brand name for azithromycin. It is used to treat a variety of bacterial infections. The usual dosage for adults is 500 mg once daily for 1 to 2 weeks. For children, the dosage is based on weight (10 mg/kg once daily for 1 to 2 weeks). Zithromax is available in tablet and oral suspension forms. It is important to take Zithromax exactly as prescribed and to complete the full course of treatment. Common side effects include nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, and dizziness. More serious side effects, such as allergic reactions and liver problems, are rare. Zithromax is contraindicated in patients with a known hypersensitivity to azithromycin or other macrolide antibiotics. It is also important to avoid grapefruit and grapefruit juice while taking Zithromax, as they can interfere with the medication's effectiveness. Zithromax is a prescription drug and should only be used under the supervision of a healthcare provider.
